

Surface Transportation Reauthorization: Social Media Toolkit

The current surface transportation reauthorization is nearing its expiration, and unless Congress acts quickly, projects could face uncertainty, as delays on a new bill hamper states' ability to plan for the long-term.

Help raise awareness about the importance of passing a timely, robust transportation bill. Follow these steps to join the conversation on social media:

Social Post Option:

An investment in roads, bridges, and transit systems is an investment in safety, affordability, and opportunity. Congress, don't let infrastructure fall through the cracks. Deliver the next surface transportation reauthorization today.

Social Post Option:

We all count on roads and bridges to get us home safely. That's why I'm counting on lawmakers to invest in the infrastructure we rely on. Join me in calling on Congress to reauthorize America's surface transportation programs.

Social Post Option:

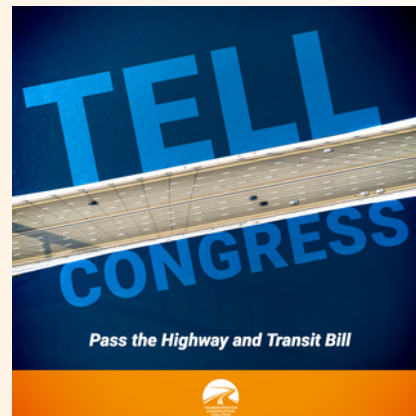

As someone who commutes daily, safe and reliable roads are essential for my day-to-day life – that's why I'm calling on Congress to act before transportation funding runs out. Join me in showing support for a robust transportation bill.

Social Post Option:

America is home to 4 million+ miles of road, 48,700+ miles of interstate highways, and about 620,000 bridges. Let's protect this infrastructure and everyone who depends on it. Congress – pass the next surface transportation reauthorization before funding runs out.
